

Hello future self, right now I am 10 years old and I am in Ms.Feniaks class (AKA the Greenhouse) and we are doing the energy diet challenge. We are talking about all of the energy problems going on in the world right now, I hope that the world in the future is better than the world today. Right now the energy problem is really tough, and we are writing to our future self about all of the energy problems nowadays. Right now coal mining in Canada is really harsh, Jason Kenney had started mining for coal in the rivers polluting the rivers and then they flow to some big cities. Also when people are burning coal the smoke is going up into the ozone layer, coal is one of the worst things ever because it's carbon footprint is large.
