

The day I went without laptops was easy, because we played math and word games, and they were really fun. It was also hard without laptops and the smart-board because we usually watch videos for certain subjects like exprobrations. Well if I had to do it again I would. That's my reflection for my day without laptops.