Dear Mrs Choi

I urge you to join me in reducing food waste. An example of food waste is throwing a banana peel away instead of composting. A few examples of reducing food waste is composting and freezing extra food. It is also a good idea to only take food that you will eat. You can go back for seconds. We always finish leftover so they don't get wasted because my mom w
Makes very good food. Start composting and stop wasting!

Dear Mom,

I think it's so important to reduce food waste. Did you know that we waste a huge amount of food everyday? Let's organize food items from the pantry. Check the expiry date and eat the one that expires first. So it does not expire. We can compost the food items that expire and you can not eat it because it's gone bad. And remember to take only what you can eat. Create a new meal with the leftovers you have. Put the meat in the coldest part of the fridge. Treat the herb like flowers. For example you can freeze them. Freeze extra food. And you should try composting yourself.

Dear Mrs Choi,

I think you need to stop wasting coffee powder everyday. You need to reduce food waste.

I think you should drink water instead of coffee, but if you want to drink coffee you can but I think you should compost the coffee powder to save the environment. A way to reduce food waste is to look through your pantry and see the expiry date on all the things you have in the pantry. if something is about to expire you should eat before it goes bad i think you need to check if you have more coffee containers before you buy more coffee, you should do the same with your fridge too. I have something fun you can do with you and your husband, you both can make new recipes with your left overs, for an example, you can maybe make hamburgers with taco meat and you can also make salad from the veggies you used in your taco

Dear T ,

I think you should STOP wasting tea bags. Did you know you waste more teabags than you think. So when I say you can drink tea with me. WAIT! I have one more tip for you. You can drink one cup of tea a day. I'm not saying you can't drink tea why won't we make composting! Now we can compost now in the backyard.with a bin and we put your tea bags in the compost. We can make the compost together this weekend. And this is how we can do it. Get a bin and put your tea bags in and other stuff we can't eat in the compost we are making.
Good bye.

From your sister,

Dear Mom,

I think it is so important to reduce food waste. I urge you to try composting. Did you know that we waste a huge amount of food a day? Lets Protect our Environment by reducing food waste. Here are some ways to reduce food waste. First way. Organize your pantry so that you will know when your food expires. For example Compost fruits & vegetables that you can't eat because they have expired. Also you can compost fruits & vegetables in the backyard. Composting is better than butting food items in the garbage. Next Only take what you will eat and if you are hungry after you eat that plate then go and grab some more food. For example, remember when you dropped your salmon and green beans on the floor well you would not of lost and wasted as much food if you took less. Next. You can reduce food waste that you did not eat and have it another day. Next. Treat herbs just like flowers. For example. Put the herbs in a bowl with water and then the herbs will not die as quick. Last but not least! Do you know how much coffee beans you are wasting? Let's try to fix that. Solution, I'm not saying not to drink coffee and tea but there is a great way to reduce food waste by, make a compost bin. Some where so when you spill coffee on the floor & counter you can put the waste in the compost bin if you can. I am sure you can do it!

Sincerely ,

Ps. Lets make a compost bin on the weekend. Sound fun right? I know it is going to be hard for you but you can do it! Also plz read this so josh.
