

Energy- Man
By Yahya

It was a nice day outside and Energy-Man was putting some solar panels on his roof to save energy. His neighborhood was the best, his neighbors were recycling some used markers and crayons. Suddenly they heard an evil laugh, It was Evil-Man. He was destroying all the solar panels and was sucking all the crayons and markers with his robot to throw them into the landfill. He was zapping all the signs that were about saving energy. Energy-Man just charged his energy saving robot. He hopped inside and went to face Evil-Man. Evil-Man was in his robot that was using coal. Lots of smoke was coming from his robot. Energy-Man had an idea. He was going to fly around and let Evil-Man chase him until his coal ends. He did that and it worked. Evil-Man was so angry that he disappeared. Energy-Man and his neighbors used the robot to make newer robots.

The End
