What I Ate.

Chicken noodle soup

Chopped green pepper
cooked with pork

The Ingredients.

Chicken broth

Ramen

Green peppers

Pork

Chicken broth

Swanson is the brand that we used and it is manufactured in Ontario. Hence expecting that the carbon footprint is low.

Ramen

My mom threw away the packaging, so i do not know what brand of ramen was used. However, my mom was sure that the brand is a Chinese one. Hence assuming that it came from China, the carbon footprint is high. Either flew or was shipped all the way from the other side of earth.

Green peppers

According to Miss. Google, Ontario grows their own seasonal green peppers.
Hence assuming the carbon footprint is on the low side.

Pork

Again, Miss. Google and I know that Ontario have pig farms. Hence the carbon footprint is also on the low side.
