

Green transportation

Transportation is important especially when you are far away from your destination. I will be talking about more sufficient and better ways to get around.

If you can you should try to use an electric car it cuts down on fossil fuels and air pollution.

You can also bike, scooter, skateboard ,roller skate or any other none powered.

Another thing you can do is carpool or take the train or subway because instead of every one driving it's only one.